Wednesday, August 19th 4.5 miles

Meet at 9.30am at the Riding's playing fields car park to share lifts.

Starting from the village this is an undulating walk through the Wiltshire countryside to the south west of Marshfield. The going is good underfoot and mainly through fields. There are no difficult stiles but in the first half there are a couple of steep but short climbs – we can take our time! Dropping down to the valley of Catherine's Brook, we follow a short section of the Limestone Link path. As Cold Ashton comes into sight we turn right and follow a gentle incline, up a dry valley back to Marshfield. Bring your own coffee/tea and plenty of water! Lunch will be at the Catherine Wheel.

Please contact Anne, who is the walk leader, if you need to know more.
